

Stockholm Conference on Environmental Law and Justice

6-9 September 2006

Stockholm Environmental Law and Policy Centre, at Stockholm University, arranges an international Conference on Environmental Law and Justice in Stockholm 6-9 September 2006.

Look for programme, list of speakers and practical information, and register at the Conference website:
www.juridicum.su.se/EnvJusticeConf

Some 25 prominent invited speakers – scholars, judges, ambassadors etc. – from around the world provide important, inspiring and innovative examinations of (the notion of) justice in different legal contexts related to health, the environment, and the use of natural resources. Their papers range from local to global settings, and include structural and cross-cutting aspects such as gender, trade, climate change, globalisation and North-South dimensions.

In addition, workshops are arranged where all participants are invited to present research papers relating to environmental law and justice.

Conference Organising Committee:

Jonas Ebbesson, Stockholm University
Jutta Brunnée, University of Toronto
Richard Falk, University of California, Santa Barbara
Ludwig Krämer, Bremen University
Phoebe Okowa, Queen Mary, University of London
